

ORDER TO CUT VETERANS' ALLOWANCES SIGNED

BEER ORDINANCE
ADOPTED BY CITY
COUNCIL FRIDAYFirst Licenses Here Will Be Granted Tuesday Eve

At an adjourned meeting of the city council last evening a beer ordinance was unanimously passed by the council and signed by the mayor at 8:29 o'clock last evening. The lengthy addition to the city's law books, Dixon's malt and vinous beverage ordinance is the one that has been acted upon by the present city council. In drafting the measure, the city commission followed three outstanding principles. The first, to prevent minors from obtaining liquor; second, to stop the practice of "spiking," and to protect property owners in residential districts.

The amount of license to be charged by the city is considered low by many. The retail dealer in the new beverage will be obligated to file a bond in the sum of $200 with the City Clerk when this license is granted, the fee for the retail license will be $60 for the year. Wholesalers will be obligated to pay a license fee of $50 for the 12 month period, both of which licenses may be paid in quarterly installments in advance.

The ordinance deviates slightly from the state regulation, in that it requires that no beer shall be sold to a person under 21 years of age, the state law making 18 years the age limit. It was reported that several of the prospective retailers had favored the legal age limit.

Open For Inspection
The mayor will control all licensing and license fees. He is also empowered to revoke licenses in cases where the provisions are violated, where false statements are found to have been made in making application for license, for permitting disorderly conditions to exist in places licensed to retail beer and another section requires that no minors or intoxicated persons shall be permitted to loiter about such places where beer is sold. Members of the police department are entitled to conduct inspections of any places handling the new beverage at any time.

In the case of the wholesaler, the ordinance provides that he shall not be permitted to sell less than one case of beer or wine in quantities under one gallon. Drinking on the streets, in the alleys or on any property without the consent of the owner is strictly prohibited. A maximum penalty of $200 is provided for the violation of any of the provisions of the ordinance, which as an emergency measure, became effective upon its passage.

Dixon is one of the first cities in northern Illinois to enact a beer ordinance and many other cities have already requested copies of the new regulatory measure. No liquors containing more than 3.2 per cent alcohol will be permitted on the premises where beer and wine are sold and dispensed. The word, "saloon" is not permitted to be used in any manner. No beer is to be sold within 100 feet of any public or parochial school or church. In the residential district of the city, the ordinance requires that the applicant for a license shall first obtain the written consent of owners of all property, whether occupied or vacant, within a radius of 150 feet from the proposed place of business.

Grant Permits Tuesday
Applications for licenses may be obtained at the office of City Clerk Blake Grover Monday morning. These with the bonds must be on file in the clerk's office, subject to inspection, not later than noon Tuesday and the first licenses will be acted upon at the regular council meeting Tuesday evening.

Indications today were that about fifty applications for licenses may be made at the outset. At a special meeting Thursday afternoon at the city hall, wholesalers and retailers met with the council to discuss the provisions of the new ordinance. It was reported that nine wholesalers were present and about 25 retailers were represented, the majority of whom sought to secure licenses as soon as the ordinance became effective. While the ordinance has been signed by the mayor, it was stated last evening that it does not go into effect until the individual licenses have been issued.

STATE LAW NEXT WEEK

Springfield, Ill., April 1—(AP)—The Illinois General Assembly will seek next week to complete enactment of the liquor license and regulatory measure so that it may become effective coincident with the legal sale of 3.2 per cent and wine April 7.

Three steps remain before the enactment will be completed. The House, which this week advanced the bill to third reading, will probably call the measure up for passage on Tuesday. Then it will be sent to the Senate for concurrence in amendments. After that it will go to the Governor for his approval.

The measure carries an emergency clause and will, accordingly, become effective immediately on (Continued on Page 2)

MICHIGAN WILL SELECT REPEAL
DELEGATES MON.Convention On Ratification Of Federal Act Next Week

Detroit, April 1—(AP)—The first direct and effective vote by the electors of a state on national constitutional prohibition will come in Michigan Monday.

The voters on that day will elect 100 delegates to a state convention to consider ratification of the proposed amendment to the federal Constitution, repealing the 18th amendment and providing for the protection of dry states.

The convention is to be held April 10, just one week after the election, will be a mere formality as its action will have been decided in advance by the popular vote. In Monday's election 100 candidates are pledged to repeal and 100 against it.

The election is not a state-wide referendum in the sense that a majority of the state voters will determine the action of the convention. Rather, it amounts to the election of a special one-chamber legislature on the sole issue of ratification.

Each legislative district of the state will be represented in the convention by the same number of delegates it sends to the House of Representatives in the state legislature. In most cases this is one, but a few districts have more, the largest being the city of Detroit with seventeen. Most of the legislative districts are single counties.

The candidates were nominated by boards composed of county officers and each is definitely pledged.

Morrison, Walnut
State Banks Open

Among fourteen state banks which were allowed to reopen without restriction this morning by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett were the First State Bank of Walnut and the Smith Trust & Savings Bank of Morrison.

Citizens of Walnut are especially proud of the records of its two banks, both of which are now open without restriction, the Citizen's State Bank having received its permit about two weeks ago. Opening of the First State Bank was brought about by the fine cooperation of its stockholders, who under the leadership of President J. W. Ross who has been connected with Walnut banking since 1885, met the state's requirements. I. M. White is cashier of the institution.

The First State Bank is the successor to the Walnut bank, which was organized in 1885, and which became the First State in 1920. The bank burned out in 1890 and again in 1900, in which latter year the fine bank building, which also houses stores and offices, was erected.

Cambridge Victor
In Big Boat Race

Putney-on-Thames, Eng., April 1—(AP)—Cambridge today won the 85th annual boat race from Oxford for its tenth straight victory, setting a new competitive record for the century-old rivalry.

The light blues swept to victory by two and one-half lengths after leading from the mile and a half point.

Away first with a higher stroke Cambridge yielded the lead to the dark blues at the mile by a quarter length but regained all the lost ground in the next half mile and thereafter were always out in front.

At the three mile point they were a length to the good and from there to the finish line at Mortlake brewery open water was showing between the two shells.

Aviatrix Killed
In Auto Accident

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie Chapman, aviatrix of Los Angeles and Chicago, was killed and her companion, Mrs. Gladys Wood of Detroit, was injured seriously in an automobile accident 35 miles west of Phoenix early today. Their machine collided with a truck.

MICHAEL JULIAN VICTIM OF AN UNWARRANTED, BRUTAL ATTACK
IN WEST PART OF CITY LAST EVE

Michael Julian, NorthWestern maintenance foreman, was brutally beaten about the face and head last evening about 7:30 when he was reported to have been attacked by Jerry Horton who, police say, was armed with a black jack. The assault was committed in a yard on the Rock Island road in the west city limits where Horton was taken in custody by Officers Glessner, Jones and Pomeroy, who responded to a call. He was taken to the city jail where a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was preferred before Police Magistrate Simonson by Mr. Julian.

The victim of the brutal assault was taken to his home, suffering from cuts about the face and bruises on the head. Mr. Julian was said to have gone to the west

COLLECTION OF
SALES TAX IS NOW UNDER WAYDixon Retailers Will Refund It If Law Is Knocked Out

Dixon retail merchants today were collecting the new Illinois sales tax but a record of each patron's purchase and the amount of tax paid was being kept, with a view of refunding the tax in the event that the injunction proceedings now pending against the law are upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court. This was the decision of about 150 merchants who gathered at the city hall last evening to discuss the issue.

It was decided to assume the tax from one to nine cents, and on purchases from ten cents to 32 cents to require a one cent tax; on purchases from 34 to 67 cents to require a two-cent tax and from 68 cents to one dollar, the three cent tax as provided by the new law.

Several plans were discussed relating to the method of collecting the tax, including the issuance of stamps and tokens, but these were discouraged in favor of the refund system.

STATE-WIDE COLLECTION

Chicago, April 1—(AP)—Illinois citizens began counting out their pennies—and in some cases dollars—today as the state-wide 3 per cent sales tax went into effect.

Collection of the tax began despite an injunction that hung over it to test its legality in the courts. Officials from Governor Henry Horner down advised payment of the tax pending settlement of the suit. The Governor promised that every cent paid would be returned if the law was declared unconstitutional.

In Chicago local theater crowds lingering over restaurant and night club tables were the first to pay as 3 per cent was added to their bills at one minute past midnight.

Advertisements appearing in newspapers carried brief announcements that the tax would be added to prices quoted. Some said that in case the tax was held unconstitutional, the amount collected for that purpose would be refunded on presentation of sales checks.

Absorb Some Tax
Most local merchants said they had decided to absorb the tax themselves on all sales between one and ten cents. Sales from 11 to 33 cents were taxed one cent; from 34 to 67, two cents and from 68 to $1, three cents with everything over $1 taxed a straight three per cent.

In other communities various means were put into effect today to get around the fractional cent problem raised by small sales. Kankakee, Kewanee and Mendota merchants introduced quarter cent tokens to make possible exact payment of the tax.

Funds raised from the tax—estimated as high as sixty million dollars annually—are to go for relief purposes and to lower other taxes in Counties not pressed for relief money.

With the exception of gasoline and farm products, when sold on the farm, all other tangible personal property fell within the limits of the tax. Railroad tickets and hotel accommodations were outside the pale, but food sold in hotels was included.

Utilities a Problem

Joseph I. Rice, State Director of Finance, said public utilities were still a problem and that he had not decided their status. He warned all others to be prepared to turn over three per cent of their gross sales for April sometime between May 1 and 15.

Meanwhile, officials continued their efforts to bring to a speedy conclusion the injunction issued in Madison county and upon which a hearing has been set for one week from today.

Attorney General Otto Kerner conferred yesterday with State Representative I. H. Streper III of Alton, and Attorney Frank G. Thompson of Mount Vernon who brought the injunction from Circuit Judge Jesse Brown at Edwardsville.

SOUTHERN WIND STORM TOLL IS COUNTED AT 68Flooded Streams In Iowa
And Illinois Cause
Concern

(By The Associated Press.)

A mad spring storm which for two days battered the south from Texas to Alabama left 68 known dead, hundreds of injured, wreckage and a threat of floods in its wake today.

Mississippi suffered the heaviest loss of life with 38 reported killed. In Texas 20 were killed, in Louisiana nine and in Arkansas one. The list mounted steadily last night as reports trickled in from communities cut off by tangled communication lines and flooded highways and the winds moved northward.

The devastation missed the larger cities in that section. Des Moines, Iowa, April 1—(AP)—Residents of a score of Iowa counties today watched the Cedar river continue its rampage southward, accompanied by flooded lowlands and water blocked highways.

Spurred by watery contributions from countless creeks and brooks, the larger streams passed flood stages and spilled their contents over rapidly disappearing banks.

Boats replaced automobiles as families shifted their belongings from homes to drier quarters. Crews of city employees in half a dozen cities labored to reinforce levees and dykes with sandbags.

Full force of the accumulated water was expected to be felt this morning at Waterloo and Cedar Falls as the muddy waters surged down from northern Iowa where already highways had been inundated, houses flooded and public utility plants endangered.

OHIO IS RISING

Cairo, Ill., April 1—(AP)—The flooded Ohio river continued to rise today from Paducah, Ky., to Cairo where it flows into the Mississippi.

At Paducah the stage was 46.3 feet, 3.3 above flood level and a rise of .5 in the last 24 hours. Here the stage was 49.8 which is 4.8 above flood and a rise of .9.

Flooded Wabash river, a tributary of the Ohio, began to recede. The stage at Mt. Carmel, Ill., was 23.1, a drop of 3. Flood stage there is 16.

The Mississippi river below Cairo was rising, reaching a stage of 38.9 at New Madrid, Mo., where flood level is 34. This was a rise of .5.

No Apprehension

Water covered a street at Metropolis today as the Ohio rose 4 of a foot following nearly half an inch of rainfall. A rise of 2 more feet in the river was expected by Monday.

A stage of 51 to 51.5 is seen here by Tuesday and this is expected to be the crest. Cairo's levees will withstand a 60-foot stage and no apprehension was felt here.

Lowlands on the Kentucky side of the river have been evacuated by farmers but damage has been reported as only slight. Barring further heavy rains to the north the (Continued on Page 2)

WINNIE JUDD'S
LAWYERS WILL RESUME BATTLETo Renew Efforts To Save Her Life In Court Monday

Florence, Ariz., April 1—(AP)—Attorneys for Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted "trunk" murderer, set aside. If this is denied they plan to begin their final attempt, to save their client's life Monday.

After a conference with the woman they announced a motion will be filed before Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman in Phoenix, asking that the verdict and judgment against Mrs. Judd for murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne Lelko be set aside. If this is denied they plan to appeal to the Arizona Supreme Court. Failing in this, the counsel stated they had not abandoned plans to carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Mrs. Judd remained under close guard to prevent any possible chance of her taking her own life or of escape. Warden A. G. Walker of the state prison said he did not believe she had any real hope of fleeing prison, or any real belief an opportunity would be given her to die by her own hand.

Walker confirmed a statement, made in Los Angeles by Burton McKinnell, Mrs. Judd's brother, and later denied by the young man's attorney, that a saw had been delivered to the condemned woman. She used the saw, Walker said, to saw through one of five bars cross-crossing the window of her one-room cell house in the woman's ward, three weeks ago.

LIMIT BOYCOTT
OF GERMAN JEWS
TO A SINGLE DAYHitler Threatens A Resumption Of Movement Wednesday

Berlin, April 1—(AP)—Many Jewish stores remained open after the nationwide boycott on their business began at 10 this morning, despite anti-semitic signs pasted on their show windows by enthusiastic young Nazi storm troops.

Ten big Berlin department stores and the Tiet chain stores, which alone employ 48,000 persons throughout Germany, remained closed, however. The great majority of Tiet employees are Gentiles.

That even among the Christian population the boycott measure does not meet with unqualified approval was indicated by excited groups assembling before many stores, debating the measure.

Stores like Wertheim's and Kempinski's were more crowded late yesterday than during the Christmas season by persons laying in stock for boycott days they feared would come.

Not only business streets but certain residential streets, where Jewish lawyers and physicians were known to reside, became targets of special Nazi attention.

Before numerous residences along Kaiser allee and Kurfuerstendamm, for instance, picketers warned against invoking Jewish legal and medical aid.

Barred From Courts
Picketers were reinforced before court buildings to prevent any Jewish attorneys or judges from entering.

Before the courthouse of the Berlin borough of Schoenberg, the Nazis burned the republican flag as a crowd sang Nazi songs.

In some parts of the city, so-called propaganda marches started through the business streets. Not only the storm troops, but many Nazi working girls and clerks participated. They carried signs such as "Germans shun Jewish physicians and lawyers" and "boycott Jewish bankruptcy."

The boycott movement received added impetus by a flaming appeal from the Nazi women's federation to every German woman to join the movement for the destruction of Jewry.

After contending the Jews are the German people's mortal enemies and saying that only by an economic boycott can they be forced to their knees, the appeal said:

"You women must see to it that no German fair buys from Jews. The fight is inexorable. Personal feeling must be disregarded."

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, cabinet Minister of Propaganda, keyed the campaign with a warning that unless "the foreign atrocity campaign ceases absolutely" the boycott will be resumed next Wednesday. He promised, however, "a return to normal" if this condition was fulfilled.

Limited To One Day
A government order shrank the National Socialist party's proposed indefinite boycott to one day's duration for the time being and it remained to be seen which of opposing groups in the government and party would be victorious in the end.

Only small comfort was derivable from the present limitations for a half million distracted German Jews were at all practical purposes already ostracized socially and professionally.

There were to many tragic aspects to the situation that the boycott was only another bitter draught.

Dr. Goebbels further warned that "if New York and London boycott German goods" the government will "take its gloves off" in handling the Jewish problem.

Chancellor Hitler's government, which had remained silent while the boycott plans were formulated by the party, was placed in the position of endorsing the action when Dr. Goebbels read a government pronouncement last night at a packed meeting of Nazis.

He whipped them into a frenzy of antipathy for the Jews and (Continued on Page 2)

SHOTS FROM AIR
INTO PRISON RE-
SULT IN ARRESTSTwo Ex-Convicts Held On Charges Of Attempted Murder

Leavenworth, Kas., April 1—(AP)—Two reputed ex-convicts from Denver were under arrest today on charges of shooting from an airplane over the Federal penitentiary at tower guards who replied with machine gun and rifle fire.

Soon after the 15-minute attack late Friday had ended without casualties, Lynn and A. N. Barlow, brothers, who prison officials said once served short terms in Leavenworth for liquor law violations, were arrested as they stepped from a plane at the Fort Leavenworth flying field.

They denied the shooting, saying they flew here to get their brother, Theodore, whose term for a liquor law violation ended today.

Warden Fred G. Zerbst said, however, that the evidence against the two was "conclusive." Despite the fact no weapon was reported found in the cabin monoplane flown by the Barlows from Denver, starting Thursday, Zerbst pointed out the possibility of dropping firearms before landing.

The two were charged before a United States Commissioner with shooting in an effort to kill persons in the prison and with attempting to aid prisoners to escape.

Three Victims Of Plane Crash Are Critically Hurt

Neodesha, Kas., April 1—(AP)—Three of the eight men who escaped death in the airplane crash, which terminated the homeward flight of the Winnipeg Toller, Canadian amateur basketball champions, remain in a critical condition at a hospital.

Attending physicians virtually gave up hope that one of them, Andy Brown, a forward on the team, would recover from injuries received when the crippled airliner buried her nose in a turreted field five miles north of here yesterday. Three of his companions died enroute to the hospital and three others died in the operating room.

The other two players whose condition was described as critical were Ivan Wooley, 25-year-old captain of the team, which was returning from the first of two games of an international court series with the Tulsa Oilers, National A. A. U. champions, and Al Silverthorne, 29, who suffered fractures of the arms and legs.

Township assessors of Lee county agreed upon a scale of valuation to be made this year at a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the County Court room, which was called and presided over by County Treasurer Sterling Schrock. The meeting developed into a general discussion and lasted well through the afternoon. Members of the county Board of Review and a large delegation of officers and members of the Lee County Taxpayers Association were present.

Assessors fixed the following average rates for assessment of livestock and farm products: Horses and mules, $10 to $50; dairy cows, 2 per cent; sheep, $2 per head; $15 to $40; feeders, $3 cwt; hogs chickens and ducks, 10 cents; geese 40; turkeys, 80; corn, 10; oats, 5; wheat, 20; barley, 15; hay, $4 per ton; rye, 15; clover seed, $4 per

ARE EXPECTEDReduced
Compensations
Become Effective
On July 1st.

Washington, April 1—(AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered reductions in veterans allowances totalling approximately $400,000,000.

Using the extraordinary power vested in him by the Economy Act, the Chief Executive shortly after 1:30 P. M., signed the order drafted by Lewis Douglas, Director of the Budget, and Frank T. Hines, Veterans Administration, who were present when he signed.

The reduced rates are effective July 1. Making public the lowered schedules of allowances, the President issued the following statement:

"In connection with the publication today of the regulations having to do with veterans benefits, I do not want any veteran to feel that he and his comrades are being singled out to make sacrifices.

But Part Of Program

"On the contrary, I want them to know that the regulations issued are but an integral part of our economy program embracing every department and agency of the government to which every employee is making his or her contribution.

"I asked them to appreciate that not only does their welfare but also the welfare of every American citizen, depend upon the maintenance of the credit of their government and that they also bear in mind that every citizen in every walk of life is being called upon directly or otherwise, to share in this."

Hines and Douglas, in a summary of the new regulations, estimated the savings at $400,000,000.

Number Hit Unknown

"While it is appreciated that many thousands will be adversely affected," they stated, "no estimate as to exact numbers can be given until the reviews authorized have been accomplished.

"It can be said, however, that all men who acquired their disabilities in the military or naval service and the dependent of those who die from such disabilities are adequately cared for.

"Also that the more seriously disabled war veterans are entitled either to a pension or hospital or domiciliary care."

The new regulations contain almost 30 printed pages. The Hines-Douglas summary disclosed that the rates to be paid for war time disability are: for 10 per cent, $8 monthly; 25 per cent, $20; 50 per cent, $40; 75 per cent, $60, and 100 per cent, $80.

After extended conferences with leaders of veterans organizations, Douglas took the order to the White House yesterday.

Plan Other Savings
In addition to these savings—counted on heavily by the Chief Executive to reach a balance in the federal budget—Douglas said it was planned to save another $50,000,000 through a purely administrative process of handling funds being piled up for the full payment in 1945 of the soldiers bonus.

Veterans leaders said they had been unable to get any concessions as a result of their conferences with Douglas and Hines.

It was frustrated that even some of the war incurred disabilities will be slashed under the order, depending on the nature of the disabilities and the allowance category into which they fall.

The White House issued the following explanatory summary of the order

Thousands Apply For Work In Woods

Washington, April 1—(AP)—If the first day's applications are any criterion, recruiting of 250,000 unemployed to carry out President Roosevelt's forest conservation-unemployment program won't take long.

Telephone operators in four departments which share responsibility for the program's administration—war, agriculture, interior and labor—made this discovery. Thousands of inquiries came from within Washington alone.

Departmental mail bags also showed that other thousands of applicants did not wait for the President to sign the bill before acting. All applicants were turned over to the Labor Department, which will handle recruiting.

The early press of applications increased possibilities that Secretary Perkins will set up classifications under which unemployed with families or other dependents may be given preference in order to make the forest jobs available to those who need them most.

ARMY TENTS SENT

Springfield, Ill., April 1—(AP)—One hundred sixty army tents have been sent to Cairo and Shawneetown, Ill., where the Ohio river is reported at flood stage.

The tents were requested by the mayors of the two cities. One hundred tents have been sent to Cairo and fifty to Shawneetown to house refugees driven from their homes by the high water.

The tents are "16-foot size" and were obtained by Governor Horner, through Adjutant Verat Black, from the U. S. Army post at Chicago.

Uxoricide Appeals To Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., April 1—(AP)—Hubert C. Moor, Clark county school teacher under death sentence for the slaying of his wife, had filed an appeal with the state Supreme Court today. A writ was granted to stay the execution until the case is heard in June.

Moor's brief contended that evidence did not warrant the death penalty and that there was reasonable doubt as to his sanity.

Einstein To Give Up German Rights

Brussels, April 1—(AP)—Reports of treatment inflicted on his married daughter in Germany caused Professor Albert Einstein, world famous physicist, to resolve to give up his German nationality, it was learned today.

Professor Einstein and his wife are taking quarters in a quiet villa at Coq Sur Mer, near Ostend.

A raid by Nazis in Germany on the home there of Professor Einstein was reported some days ago. No mention was made of his married daughter.

Regulations recently placed in effect by the Chinese Ministry of Railways provide for the acceptance of freight shipments at the carrier's risk, a practice heretofore unknown in that country.

CHECKER CLUB WINS

The Chevrolet Checker club of this city scored its second victory in a series of inter-city contests last evening when they won to Rochelle and came home with honors amounting to 78 to 64. The DeKalb club which was scheduled to appear in Dixon Monday evening to play a return match have postponed their series until Tuesday evening of next week. The Chevrolet club members attribute their early season defeats to stage fright and have won two successive victories over out of town teams.

OPERATED ON SKULL

Harold Eugene Burklin, ten-year-old boy, who fell a distance of about 40 feet from the Illinois Central railroad bridge Friday morning about 9:30, was reported to have spent a very restful night at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital. The youth submitted to a serious operation yesterday when it was discovered that he was suffering from a compound skull fracture. Robert Clark and William Burklin, Jr., were playing with Harold on the bridge when in some manner he slipped and fell to the ground.

VICTIMS OF JOKE

The city fire department was the victim of an April fool joke this morning at 9 o'clock making a run to the home of Mrs. Henry Drew, 923 Simmsville avenue. A neighbor had telephoned the Dews stating that the Drew home was afire with the result that an alarm was turned in and the joke was not discovered until the department was well on its way to the scene. Enroute to the supposed fire a nickel-plated nozzle was lost from the truck and Fire Chief Wm. Mitchell requests that the finder return the nickel to the department at the city hall.

JOKE ON WOMAN

A woman's purse which lay at the foot of the stairs in the court house this morning, attracted the instant attention of many who passed in and out of the building. It was picked up, investigated and then replaced many times when the finders suddenly realized that today was April Fools day. Finally a lady residing in the east end admitted it into the purse, carried it to the County Treasurer's office before realizing the date and reported to have been too abashed to return the decoy to its original position or to any of the attaches of the court house.

Horner Will Sit With Pardon Board

Springfield, Ill., April 1—(AP)—Governor Horner may sit with the state Board of Pardons and Paroles when it hears Clarence Darrow plead for the life of Russell McWilliams, Rockford, Ill., boy slayer under sentence of death.

The Governor today notified the boy's attorneys, to whom he had previously granted a hearing on April 10, that the statutes required the case be heard by the Pardon Board.

Inasmuch as ultimate disposition rests with the Governor anyway, he said, he will probably sit with the board.

The Pardon Board does not meet again until April 11.

ROOSEVELT TO GET HIS WISH IN FARM RELIEF

Bill Expected To Be Reported To Senate On Monday

Washington, April 1—(AP)—The Senate Agriculture committee went at the administration farm bill again today, with every sign indicating that President Roosevelt's views would prevail.

The final form of the measure rests with the committee, but after Mr. Roosevelt's conference with its members at the White House last night the general impression was that the administration bill would be reported out substantially as approved by the House.

Chairman Smith and others were hopeful today that a bill would be ready for Senate action by Monday. He has proposed a substitute and intends to press for a vote on it.

Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for re-financing farm mortgages is rapidly taking shape and is expected to be sent to Congress Monday there to be added to the farm relief bill.

The President called the members of the Agriculture committee to the White House. After a week of study they had been unable to agree. The entire situation, including provision for the appropriation of $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 to start operations was discussed.

When it was over, Smith and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said it was likely that the National Farmers Union's price-fixing plan would be written into the bill. It also was indicated that all commodities now in the measure would remain.

Smith told newspapermen that the President wanted the earliest possible action on this bill, and that his cue was that "it might be reported out at least by Monday."

FAITH OF OUR FATHERS!
FAITH of our fathers living still
In spite of dungeon, fire and sword;
O how our hearts beat high
When'er we hear that glorious word!

Faith of our fathers! holy faith!
We will be true to thee till death!
Our fathers, chained in prisons dark,
Were still in heart and conscience free;
How sweet would be their children's fate
If they, like them, could die for thee!

Hollywood, April 1 — Capes that come off, to leave a trim dress beneath them, almost give a girl two costumes instead of one.

League Women Voters Support Bill 593

With the introduction on March 23rd of House Bill 593, providing for the office group form of ballot, by Representative William G. Thron (Rep.) of Chicago, the Illinois League of Women Voters again comes forward in support of the measure.

The ballot proposed provides for grouping the names of the candidates by office instead of in a party column, but the party designation appears after each name so that the candidates' affiliations are clearly given. The bill also provides for the rotation of names on the ballot in order that no one candidate would have an unfair advantage as to position. The ballot would be voted by marking for each candidate for whom the voter wishes to vote.

"The voter is aided by this form of ballot," says Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway of Glen Ellyn, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, "as it is about one-third of the size of the present ballot and can be voted in only one way. It enables the voter to make an intelligent, discriminating choice. The parties are strengthened through the use of this ballot, as it is an incentive to the nomination of able candidates for all offices."

TRUE BLUE CLASS TO MEET MONDAY EVENING

The True Blue class of the Christian church will meet at the church Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in monthly meeting.

All members and friends are cordially invited to this social gathering, at which time the following articles are requested to be brought: pencils, crayons, pretty pictures, magazine cut-outs, small Gospels, drawing paper, old Valentines and Christmas cards, needles, and thread, also Sunday School papers for children.

VELVET FOR SPRING EVENINGS

Scarf-Like Wraps Are Fascinating

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Writer

PARIS—While Paris has understood perfectly the necessity, in these strenuous times, for practical, reasonable and altogether matter-of-fact day clothes, she strongly believes in setting aside all worries and cares when evening comes and urges women to go forth dressed in the most glamorous of fabrics.

And to meet changed conditions, meaning restricted dress allowances, the couturiers seem to have concentrated on producing clothes that are beautiful and formal without the aid of expensive furs or other trimmings, thereby considerably reducing the cost.

The popularity of velvet for evening wear is comprehensible. It is by far the most luscious of all fabrics, both to the eye and to the touch. In the cool summer weaves, velvet is the staple fabric for evening wraps for the coming summer and of these there is a variety of styles that almost defy description.

Knee-Length In Style
The knee-length type of garment, swinging loose from the shoulders, finished with an intricate bow scarf at the neck and with sleeves fur-trimmed or not strikes a new note.

Augustabernard sponsors this style and does it most effectively. She showed several in her spring collection, the most attractive being fashioned in the new "velours d'ete" in a curious shade of smoke grey with a distinctly yellow glow to it. This was worn over a pale bands of sable outlined the loose seven-eights sleeves, but many of her other models were without any fur trimming at all.

Short Wraps In Variety
In the short wraps category, there are a number of new ideas to be gleaned, which clever women can very easily profit by.

Lucien Lelong has a number of these bolero-cape wraps, each more fascinating than the other. Some are merely long scarf-like arrangements with a sleeve effect on one side and not on the other, one of the ends being thrown over the shoulder or held in front to form a wide panel on the skirt. As he uses velvet in deep rich colors, in direct contrast or a deeper shade than that of the dress, the result is eminently successful.

Worth Models More Formal
Worth offers a number of intriguing cape wraps which are new and attractive, but rather more formal than the loose style. One especially, in pale blue linen velvet, forms a deep point extending almost to the hem of the skirt, at the back and finishing at the waistline in front in a crossover bolero effect.

One of Lelong's most popular evening wraps is of the scarf variety, made of bottle green velvet, over a crepe chiffon dress with a dark green ground and pinkish floral design.

Wide bands of grey, fox starting from the sleeves in front extend to the hem at the back in a V effect. A loose fur scarf, that can be adjusted as the wearer's needs, is attached to one side of the simple neckline.

Later on in the summer these velvet wraps may be replaced by crisp pique jackets and diaphanous mousseline wraps, but for restricted budgets, the velvet wrap is certainly the wisest acquisition as being suitable for the entire season.

Playday For Harmon Unit on Tuesday

The Harmon Home Bureau Unit had a play day Tuesday. No, they are not too old! They went right away and left the butchering and the cor nshealing and the rugbeating and the soap making; and, returning from an afternoon of recreation and social contact were able to attack the home tasks with new vigor. These are some of the remarks that were heard: "I never met Mrs. ... before. How pleasant she is." "That Mrs. ... is certainly worth knowing." "I'm just getting acquainted with my neighbors."

Twenty-three were present at the party which was held at the home of Mrs. Ross. Tea was served by the refreshment committee, which was composed of Mrs. Poppino, Mrs. Churchill and Mrs. Clatworthy.

The next regular meeting of the unit will be held at the home of Mrs. Poppino on April 12. A picnic dinner will be served at noon.

On Wednesday, April 6, the Nelson, Palmira and Dixon units are sponsoring a meeting in the Christian church at Dixon. There will be a picnic dinner at noon and a program and entertainment afterwards. Everyone, whether a member or not, is invited to this, the first district meeting of the county.

CINE-MODES SHOULDER-CAPES Filmdom's Wrapped Up In Them

Elizabeth Allan

By NEA Service

HOLLYWOOD—Capes have a lady-something about them Hollywood makes Hollywood girls love them.

Elizabeth Allan wears a short dark grey cape, with slits for her arms, to top a light grey skirt of the same mottled wool, and tops it with a felt sailor of the skirt's gray. Her lacy blouse is of the skirt's light gray and the skirt rises to a high-waistline over the blouse, fastening with a snappy metal button clasp at the side-front. Her shoes and gloves are the cape's gray.

Wynne Gibson, dashing into a dentist's office, wore a dark blue wool crepe suit with cape sleeves to the jacket. Her blouse was a kinkily plaid taffeta, tying at the neck with a loose bow.

Bobbe Daniels, entering the Skeets Gallagher home, for a tea, given in Bebe's honor, wore an ankle length dress of black crepe with short puffed sleeves and a fluffy, wired cape collar of white embroidered organdy.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, lunching in her dressing room at the studio, wore a pink crepe negligee, with an entire cape collar of yards of uncurled ostrich, shaded from pink to rose. Jack Oakie, Dick Arlen and went home with a Kingfish feeling for the day. Four other youngsters felt they were just no good at anything. Ted described his victories at the supper table. Oh, was he a smart fellow! He'd tell the world he was!

His father said nothing but he regarded his small son soberly.

Dad's Challenge

After a while he remarked "Alex Custer wants me to go to Perry Lake when the bass season opens. He is taking the car for you too, Ted, but there's just one trouble." "What's that?" Ted was all ears, eyes, and excitement.

"Bass fishing is just one of those things some people can do and some can't. If you don't catch a fish you will be wanting to come home."

Ted already felt the line in his fingers. "Hoh! I would catch a fish. I can do anything with a string. You know I can."

"But you see, son, this is one thing that depends on the other end of the line. The fish has a say-so. And if he liked the looks of somebody else's hook or bait better than he did yours, you would say the game was no good and yell for home."

A Promise Given

"I would not! What do you think I'd want to leave for?"

"Because you're a bad loser. A poor sport, my son. I've had an eye on you for some time. You won't do anything you can't beat everybody else at. You can't take the little end, even once in a while."

"Dad, if I promise not to say a word if I don't get any fish, can I go?"

"And smile?"

"Boy and man regarded each other for a long minute. "I get you," said Ted grinning. "Yes."

His father smiled too. "And by Jove, kid, if you get all the fish, and I don't get any I suppose I will have to take it on the chin, myself. Well, I'm used to that. Shake!"

More Children's Designs in Telegraph's Wonder Package

Why not a Bunny laundry bag for the baby like the one shown in accompanying illustration? You will find no difficulty in making one with the Wonder Package of patterns.

The laundry bag, of course, would be much larger than the one shown in illustration. This is only one-half of one of the many sheets of patterns found in Wonder Package, reduced in size. In fact 10 or 12 bags could be made from the same pattern as a Wonder Package pattern can be used many times.

For Older Children Also

See the dear little Dutch girl in the upper left corner. This would make a charming picture framed, after being painted in bright colors. You know these patterns can be transferred on paper and used for painting as well as for embroidery work.

The Soldier, Chinese Boy, Clown, and Rocking Horse could be used to brighten the little boy's room, transferred on lamp shades, or colored and framed or any place where some bit of decoration is desired.

If you do not think of any use for it now, why not put it away—for you certainly will need it in the future.

If you would like to have the package mailed you, the price is $1.00, but if you prefer to call for it the price is only 88c. This Wonder Package may be had at the Dixon Evening Telegraph office.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph
Enclosed please find $1.00 for which I wish you would send me the Dixon Evening Telegraph Wonder Package of over 800 transfer patterns.

RUSSIA'S WAY AND OUR OWN.

One of the most interesting bits of news from Russia this spring is the announcement that the government is prepared to get very hard-boiled toward workers who fail to work as hard as the government thinks they ought.

Recent legislation makes it possible for the government to deprive a workman and his family of a job, food and his house for a single day's unjustified absence from work. Lenin himself urged that the dictatorship of the proletariat must not hesitate to use force against the proletariat itself when the occasion requires it. The working class in Russia, as a class, is exalted as never before in history; but the worker as an individual has perhaps less freedom than any other worker in Europe or America.

And this odd contradiction emphasizes once more the strange and fascinating contrast between the things that are being attempted in Russia and the things that are being tried in America.

In each country, at this moment, the greater part of the thought and energy of the people is being devoted to an effort to fix things so that mankind's new productiveness can be used so as to provide the ordinary man with a better, happier life. That is the avowed purpose of the Communist experiment; it is, fundamentally, what is back of our own attempt to end this depression and make a new one impossible.

Basically, then, we are seeking the same goal. But how differently we are going at it!

Iron discipline, a rigid regime in which the individual counts for nothing and freedom is a discarded word—these characterize the working-out of the Russian venture. To us they look like prices that are too high to pay.

We want the same things the Russians want, but we intend to get them in our own way. The individual worker may not be cock of the walk, in America, but he is absolute lord over his own life. Freedom, prosperity and happiness must begin with him if they are to mean anything.

COMPENSATING VETERANS.

"I have the utmost confidence in President Roosevelt's fair-mindedness," says National Commander Louis A. Johnson of the American Legion. "I don't believe for a moment that his efforts toward economy will cause him to cripple the work that is being done to help casualties—those for whom the war will never end."

Here, surely, is a statement in which every American can join. Payments from the federal treasury to war veterans are going to be cut very heavily—but no one wants to see the men who were maimed or crippled in action deprived of one cent of their deserved compensation.

To such men the government owes a debt which must be paid on the nail, come good times or bad. The men who enjoy fat compensation for injuries whose effect has long since passed, the non-service-connected-disability pensioners—they are in a different class.

PRAISE FROM A BRITON.

Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords, made a fine impression during his recent tour of America. But he made an even finer one when he sailed for home with words of praise for American airways, American trains and the general sympathy and understanding of the American people.

English visitors don't usually say that sort of thing. They come over to collect such dollars as may be floating about loose, but they leave with the air of those who escape from a dreary desert, and as they leave they let us know, condescendingly, that we are a benighted and witless folk whose ways are outlandish and whose institutions are devilish odd.

Lord Marley is a refreshing exception. One trusts that he isn't deprived of his position in the House of Lords because of his break with the oldest of British traditions.

TOM MOONEY'S NEW TRIAL.

So Tom Mooney is at last to have his day in court! What the upshot of this surprising new development in this famous long-drawn-out case may be is beyond telling. That it will be next to impossible for the prosecution to gain a conviction seems obvious; but whether such a result would bring a pardon for the charge on which the man is now in prison is not at all certain. A pardon for Tom Mooney has, in the past, seemed to be one of those things which are theoretically possible but practically unattainable.

It would be well, meanwhile, for friends of the prisoner to remember that right now they can do him more harm than good. By keeping his case alive they have done him a great service; by agitating too fervently, now that he has won a victory, they can—so perverse is human nature—cause a revulsion of feeling that would make his release more improbable than it was before.

Democracy needs a great moral content. It is not enough to exploit it for capitalistic individualism and business purposes.—President Thomas G. Masaryk of Czechoslovakia.

The industrial revolution, which we may date from the invention of the steam engine, placed in men's hands the means of conquering poverty.—Norman Thomas, Socialist.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By Herbert Plummer

Washington — Freshmen members of the house, generally speaking, have been dealt with rather gently by their older colleagues on the floor thus far in the special session.

There has been little hazing of the new members such as has been so noticeable in previous new congresses. Perhaps a lot of it has to do with the fact that many of the old-time disciplinarians are absent. Underhill of Massachusetts, for example, is gone. Always jealous of the traditions of the house, he could be counted on to "dress down" one or two a session, and in a fashion that usually was effective.

As a rule the newcomers in the seventy-third have been permitted to go pretty much their own ways. They have spoken whenever they wanted to, or rather, when they could get the time, and have been listened to rather attentively.

It Still Works

But the familiar old custom of the house of "applauding under the seats"—that phrase known on Capitol Hill as denoting disapproval of something a member does—has not been discarded entirely. It was used on a freshman representative just the other day with telling effect.

It happened during debate on the District of Columbia beer bill. A new member from Texas—McFarlane—was recognized for five minutes to speak in opposition to the bill.

McFarlane, an ardent prohibitionist who already had broken into debate on this subject several times, began to attack the bill. During the course of his remarks he charged that before prohibition some members of the house had been under the influence of alcohol and had appeared on the floor in such a condition.

O'Connor of New York, a broad-shouldered, outspoken man, was on his feet instantly. He came back at McFarlane vigorously, declaring that the charge was an old one which had long since been disproved and that he was amazed that the Texan would bring it up again.

Order—Finally

Then the house did something

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Scouty shouted, "Mcrey me! You are just as light as you can be." And then he put the little Midget Man safely on the ground.

The man said, "Gee, what all my best? His store of pep has sure increased. I couldn't keep my balance when he started hopping around."

"Why, I can solve the mystery," said Scouty. "I will just bet that he was tickled when we freed him from that cave. No doubt that's it."

"He likely likes the open air, and when we let him out of there it made him feel so happy that he nearly threw a fit."

The donkey still kicked away up high and Scouty said, "I think that I will try to catch that fellow. Kindly keep your eyes on me."

"A dandy length of rope I've found." He then began to whirl it round and as it looped around the beast the Tines all shouted, "Wheel!"

Then Scouty pulled the rope up tight and shouted, "I have him all right! The rope gave him a big surprise and now he's standing still."

The other Tines rushed up to the donkey, wondering what to do. Scouty said, "I am going to give this animal a thrill."

"You all can help me, if you please. I will get down on my hands and knees, and then you put the donkey on my back. I'll pull a trick."

It was an easy thing to do. The next thing that the donkey knew, the Tines had him perched up high. Wee Windy cried "How slick!"

"Now I will throw him. If I can, just like he threw the Midget Man," cried Scouty. "That will pay him back. I think it is only fair."

The lad then kicked his legs up high and Scouty shouted, "Me oh my! You've pulled your trick. And sure enough, the beast sailed through the air."

World's First Typist Still Knows Her Keys

Business girls all over America are paying homage this month to Mrs. C. L. Fortier, of Milwaukee, who 60 years ago was the first woman typist in the world. Mrs. Fortier is shown above at the modern typewriter she uses for her correspondence, and, in the inset, as she appeared 60 years ago operating the clumsy forebear of all typewriters, the invention of her father, Christopher Latham Sholes, of Ithaca, N. Y. The machine had a foot treadle to operate the carriage return and wrote only in capitals. So complicated was the machine that its manufacturers had to send an operator to run it whenever one was sold. Thus Lillian Sholes became the dean of all typists and stenographers. It was her father, the inventor, who first used as a typewriter test the classic quotation of Abraham Lincoln: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

that one rarely sees.

A burst of applause was heard that drowned out everything. It kept up. When McFarlane attempted to resume his speech the applause was only the louder.

It looked for a while as if he would not be able to continue. But Marvin Jones of Texas, who was presiding, pounded his gavel with such force that order was finally restored.

McFarlane resumed talking, but in a different manner. It was evident that "the applause under the seat" had had its effect.

The Record of the day's proceedings made no mention of the episode.

know what that fight means, and it's a real fight—a right swing to the jaw. But he could have done it better if he had given his body a solar-plexus, as old Fliz did when he put me down and out on the mat."

Yes, every man has a fight with himself, and mere shadow-boxing is not enough; it must be a knock-out. He must roll up his sleeves, as St. Paul did, and land a blow which will settle the contest. We shall never get rid of evil passion by sparring with it, much less by giving a little playful tap. There must be a set-to and a knock-out.

SHADOW-BOXING

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton
Years ago a theater owner in my town asked me to bring my church choir and conduct a brief service in his play-house on a Thanksgiving Day. Just before going on the stage which was arranged to represent a church, he introduced me to a tall, finely-formed handsome man. He was the late James J. Corbett, who was to appear as the first number after the service. Naturally I stayed to see Corbett play, and the three of us went out together for a chat and a bite to eat.

"By the way," I said to Corbett, after telling him how thrilling I was as a boy when he knocked out Sullivan, "do you realize that the Bible knows a good deal about boxing? St. Paul was not built to be a boxer, as you are—he was a tiny featherweight man—but he had evidently seen a real boxing-match in his time."

"Unfortunately," said Corbett, who deserved his title of "Gentleman Jim," "I do not know the Bible very well, though I read it sometimes. But I did not know that it had anything about boxing in it. Give me the chapter and verse, and let me look it up."

"Here it is," I replied, "in the 9th chapter of First Corinthians. St. Paul is talking about the fight he had with his lower nature—as if two men were boxing inside his heart—and he puts it, literally, in this fashion: 'In this way I punch, not doing shadow-boxing; but I strike my body under the eye and master it, lest having preached to others, I should myself be knocked out, or disqualified by the empire.'"

"Fine," said Corbett, "all of us

HARMON NEWS

By M. McDermott

Harmon—The Women's Foreign Missionary society entertained a good crowd at their supper and program Tuesday evening.

Andrew Fisher and Elizabeth Brooks were quietly married at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday at high noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roman Malach and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Considine and children motored to LaSalle Sunday and were entertained with dinner at the home of Mrs. Malach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Leonard and son Daniel attended the funeral of Mr. Leonard's sister, Mrs. Mike Stanley, held in Chicago last week.

Rev. Archibald attended school in Evanston last week. Messrs. John and Leo Downs came out from Chicago and spent the week-end with their parents. Mrs. John Downs and daughter Patsy, who have been visiting at the Tom Downs home for the past few weeks, returned home with them.

Mrs. Alice O'Donnel, Mrs. Mary Briscoe and Joe Scanlon came out from Dixon Monday and were entertained at the home of their sister, Mrs. D. D. Leonard.

Miss Vaessen spent Tuesday evening here with Miss Gladys Fortner.

Miss Virginia Quilter, who is employed here spent Sunday in Walnut with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Quilter.

Emmet Drew arrived here from Rice Lake, Wis., to be employed by Dick Drew. He reports when he left there heavy snowfall was occurring. His wife Loretta and son Robert are expected to arrive soon.

Friends of James Foley of Walnut are pleased to hear that he is improving nicely since his recent operation in St. Francis hospital in Peoria.

Mrs. Edward Dempsey and daughter and Mrs. Edward Jones motored over from Amboy Sunday and visited Mrs. Dempsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Blackburn.

Mrs. M. F. Stanley, as Kate Leonard, daughter of the late Dan and Hannah Leonard, was born in Sterling, Sept. 28, 1865, and passed away at her home in Chicago, Mar. 18, after a week's illness with pneumonia. She was married to Mike Stanley of Chicago forty years ago making that city her home but making yearly visits to relatives here.

She is mourned by her husband, M. F. Stanley and a brother John of Chicago, a brother, D. D. Leonard and sister, Miss Mary Leonard from here. One sister, Mrs. John O'Connell and a brother Joe and her parents preceded her in death. She also leaves several nieces and nephews among whom is the Reverend Emmett O'Connell, S. J. of Detroit, who was celebrant of the mass. The services and burial were in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Genz and son of Nelson entertained several friends and relatives and gave a delicious dinner Sunday in honor of their daughter Josephine's eighteenth birthday anniversary.

Those present were Misses Josephine and Gertrude Genz of Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith and children of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geiger, son Lloyd, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Geiger of Rock Falls, Mrs. Hulda Leesman and Clarence McDonald of Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beard from here.

The afternoon was spent in music and a social time. The Boy Scout meeting Saturday evening was spent preparing for the father and son banquet to be held this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lally and daughters Jeannette and Joan were over from Walton Sunday visiting her parents.

Miss Mildred Garland was a Tuesday evening guest of Mrs. Clويد Ostrander.

E. T. McCormick was a caller in Amboy Sunday evening. Mrs. George Leona and Mrs. Ben Leeman were callers in Sterling one day last week.

El Paso, Tex. — Not only in fiction does the detective hide his identity behind a big bushy beard, Frank Norfleet, enemy to confidence men and swindlers, entered the police station disguised in a beard and had it not been for his unusual voice, even his friends among the detectives and officers would not have known him. Fourteen years ago, Norfleet hunted down seven confidence men who swindled him out of $45,000, and since that time he has gone after more than 150 bad men. He boasts that he never has had to shoot a criminal.

Read carefully each ad in today's Telegraph thrifty housewife.

Many of China's foreign loans are in default, but as yet she has not attempted to repudiate liability on any of them. It would be rather amusing if China were now to repudiate some of the loans in which France is mainly interested on the grounds that economic distress rendered it advisable for China to retain the money in her own coffers. If she did, we cannot see, outside of the use of force, what France could do about it in view of her actions toward the French debts to the United States.

It is to be remembered the negotiation between Paris and Peking over the French share of the Boxer indemnity, which France demanded in gold, at a time when it was difficult for the Chinese to make payment in that currency. In the end France had her way and China paid as demanded. No doubt China is watching the action of France in the matter of her debts to the United States and perhaps in a later stage will take advantage of the precedent France has created.

A precedent has been established and there is no knowing what may happen in the future. France is far more wealthy in gold than England, yet England pays her debts. It cannot be said that France cannot pay if she wishes to, and to plead poverty in such a case would not be an excuse that she would accept from her debtors.

One of the gravest concerns of the world today is a claimed, not proven right in many cases to repudiate obligations.

Race In National League This Year Looks Like Toss-Up

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 1.—(AP)—There seems to be no harm in trying to "dope" the National League pennant race, an open competition indulged in annually around this time by the experts, but reservations are attached to any calculations about what may happen. At least five and possibly seven of the elite clubs figure to offer a wide variety of arguments in the 1933 pennant debate.

Last spring the St. Louis Cardinals, then on top of the baseball world, and the New York Giants, breezing back east under John Joseph McGraw, were picked by a majority of baseball critics to finish one-two. They wound up in a tie for sixth place. McGraw passed from the picture while his team was still in last place.

That's the way things are apt to happen, unexpectedly, in Mr. John Arnold Heydler's "dope" and it is among the reasons why no great amount of family plate so far has been wagered on the professional odds making the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs joint favorites.

Cubs Stock Tumblers

The Cubs emerged from the last world series with very little prestige and their stock tumbled again this week as a result of a fractured leg for Kiki Cuyler, their outfielder. It places more responsibility on the bat and ability of Floyd (Babe) Herman, outstanding acquisition by the Cubs since last season. If Herman recovers his Brooklyn slugging form, if Frank DeMarco can plug the outfield gap, and if Cub pitchers like young Lon Warlick duplicate their 1932 performances, the champions may repeat.

Otherwise it looks like a big year for the Pirates or one of the so-called "dark horses" in the race, including the Phillies, heaviest hitting array in either league; the Cardinals, equipped with the finest young pitching staff in captivity; and the Brooklyn Dodgers, much improved in two vital spots, pitching and first base.

Pirates Stronger

Pittsburgh came off with first prize, Freddie Lindstrom, in one of the winter's best trading sessions. The former Giant's presence in the outfield with the ubiquitous Waverly, who gives the Bucs the strongest outer trio in the league. The team, under the guiding stimulus of George Gibson and old Honus Wagner, is blessed with a hustling spirit born of the sensational development of youthful stars like Piet, Vaughan and Grace. This drive and impetuosity may counteract weakness in the pitching department, where come-backers by men like Swetonic, Kromer and Hoyt are needed to complete the defense against slugging raiders.

The Cardinals, with sharp-shooters like Dean, Derringer, Carleton, Walker and Hallahan, to say nothing of Vance, Haines, Lindsay and Mooney, must be reckoned with, no matter what the club's infield infirmities may be. But for the loss of shortstop Charley Gelbert, from a gunshot wound, the Red Birds easily could be conceded an even chance to win their fifth pennant in eight years. It is understood they made a flattering offer to the Phillies for Dick Bartell but it was declined. Unless Hornsby can show a comeback, which appears doubtful, the Cardinals will have two infield gaps to worry about.

Phillies And Dodgers

Brooklyn and Philadelphia round out the five clubs which figure now to be the most dangerous. The Dodgers, with Joe Judge ready for first base duty and Bill Skowron ready to replace him, and two impressive pitching replacements for the colorful Vance in Beck and Engle, look stronger than last year, when they finished third. The Phillies, fourth in 1932, depend upon improved pitching and a reliable second-baseman, Finn, to move them toward the top but they have not yet signed their slugging first baseman, Don Hurst, who led the National League in the vital department of batting in runs last year.

It Is Difficult to See How the Boston Braves and Giants can be more than troublemakers, without achieving a major upheaval. The Braves have picked up at least one new infield sensation in Dick Gyselman, but they distinctly need more power at bat to support a fairly good pitching staff. The Giants are showing lots of hustle under Bill Terry's leadership but their lineup lacks all-around class. They have only two pitchers of known quality and they need the daily services of Travis Jackson, now an uncertain factor, to be dangerous.

Like the Giants, the Cincinnati Reds have only two good pitchers, Lucas and Johnson, but Donie Bush's peppery leadership, plus the bats of Hefey, Bottomley and Lombardi, may produce unexpected results.

ARMOUR RELAYS ATTRACT STARS TO MEET TODAY

Stars From Big Ten, Smaller Schools Will Compete

Chicago, April 1.—(AP)—Track stars from the midwest's smaller schools will have a chance to see what they can do against major competition tonight at the University of Chicago field house in the annual Armour Tech relays.

The meet is listed as a relay affair, but there will be more interest and competition in the ten individual events. The University division includes only one-mile and two-mile relays, and the Colleges will compete in baton races over the same distances, with a sprint medley affair in addition.

With the exception of Michigan and Ohio State, the best of the Big Ten's talent will be available. Indiana has entered most of the team which won the Western Conference indoor title, and Chicago, Northwestern, Purdue, Wisconsin and Illinois will be represented by individual stars. Against them will be stars from Marquette, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Grinnell, Drake and more than 20 other institutions.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette's Negro flyer, heads the list of sprinters. Indiana's great pair, Charles Hornbostel and Ivan Fuqua, are favorites to win the half mile and quarter mile. R. Dean Woolsey, Big Ten indoor mile titleholder, appears to face the toughest competition, with Herbert Sears of Butler, and Ray Schwartz of Western State (Mich.)

MAKING IT SNAPPY—

Lefty O'Doul's success as a hitter is due largely to the fact he never tries to outguess a pitcher—but tries to hit what comes—guys who try to figure what the pitcher is going to throw are called "guess hitters" somewhat contemptuously. Guy Mac Smith is a bug on shoes—pays as much as $40 a pair. One of the year's best three-year-olds, Okapi, will not run in either the Derby or the Preakness.

PING PONG PERIL—

Maybe the ping pong rules ought to be changed to curb the casualties. Fred Perry, British table-tennis champion, recently was laid up three weeks with a strained forearm. A dime is the limit for the Pirates. Freddie Lindstrom, like Lefty Grove, smokes only cigars.

OUT OF THE SOCK—

Hoarding has been discovered in Detroit, where the banks recently were hard hit. In the till it a wrestling show a $1 bill, issued in 1855 was found—another bill, $2 denomination, carried the date line 1856. Flyer Jimmy Doolittle was a star athlete at the University of California. When Bill Terry first came to the Giants he was a pitcher, and was farmed to Toledo where he won five games in one week.

Prosperity And Game Can Return On State's Lands

Washington, D. C.—An enormous potential for the restoration of wild life and prosperity throughout the United States exists in state-owned lands, according to S. Barry Locke, conservation director of the Izaak Walton League of America, officials of the American Game Association point out in a bulletin just issued.

"Except in a few instances there has been a lack of contact between the state land boards and state game departments to provide any consideration of game production on the state-owned lands," Mr. Locke declared. "This contact has been given consideration in a few western states and should receive much more attention."

Every state owns some land; many of them much more than they can handle efficiently since hundreds of thousands of acres have reverted to the states for delinquent taxes, officials of the Association said, and this land can be made almost immediately productive of wild life, particularly game birds and animals for sport and recreation. Approximately $1,000,000,000 is spent annually in the United States in the pursuit of fish and game. There is an ever increasing army of hunters and fishermen estimated at 15,000,000—all crying for more hunting and fishing. To increase game is to increase trade and prosperity, economists declare.

Perhaps the greatest need is a recognition of the public values concerned in the production of game from waste lands in private ownership to that some provision may make possible the greatly increased production from such areas by certain protective or administrative practices," Mr. Locke said. "In many cases areas drained or cleared have proved to be of too low value to be economically farmed. These have now become waste lands and may be returned to a condition which will make them productive of game."

Such areas as Mr. Locke mentions, games like beds and marshes that would not raise any farm crop, produced a very valuable annual crop of wildfowl, fur-bearing and food and game fishes before drainage, a survey by the association shows.

IT'S ALL UP TO COCHRANE—

One of the A's weaknesses is catching. If Cochrane goes out with an injury it will be just too bad. Madjeski being a bright prospect, but without enough experience. Tom Yawkey, new owner of the Red Sox, inherited $4,000,000 from his mother and $3,408,650 from his foster father. Young Yawkey was born Thomas Austin in Detroit in 1903 and taken into the household of William H. Yawkey, his mother's brother, when he was 7—and adopted in 1917.

IT'S OLD STUFF—

Bowling in one form or another, has been a sport since the Dark Ages. It was started with rounded rocks for balls. In 1049 it was taken indoors when the nobility found it too cold to bowl on the greens—the Dutch brought it to America in 1623.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Babe Ruth will receive more money for playing ball this year than any team in the Pacific Coast League. Operative Tom Laird of San Francisco, says salaries in the PCL will not average $400 a month and none of the clubs will carry more than 18 players—but if the average salary were $400 and each club carried 18 players the monthly payroll would be $7200—that makes $43,200 for the season, or $8800 less than the Babe gets for his summer's afternoons. And the PCL is a Class AA league, and ranks next to the majors in importance.

Teachers, arrayed against him. Trials in special events and college relays were scheduled for this afternoon. The finals in all races and relays will be decided tonight.

LOCAL BOWLERS MAY COMPETE IN CHICAGO MATCH

I. B. A. Tournament Is To Be Held There: Seek Entries

President Warren Snelitzer and Secretary Al Sindelar, with the assistance of other officials of the Illinois Bowling Association, have begun their drive for entries for the 36th annual I. B. A. tournament and report that already some 400 reservations have been made.

The tournament will close with Sunday Wednesday, April 5, and the tourney will open April 20 at Bensinger's 29 West Randolph Street alleys in Chicago. The I. B. A. officials are shooting at a mark of 700 teams for the 1933 meet and have hopes of attaining it for several reasons, chiefly because of the expected upturn in business conditions due to the efforts of the new administration. Another is that many teams in Illinois are known to have longed to compete in the A. B. C. at Columbus and had the entry fee, but not the funds for transportation. These teams, it is believed, are certain to enter the I. B. A.

Last year there were 728 five-man entries and it is possible that the entry this season will equal it. Booster teams—those having an 875 average or less—will be scheduled on the first three days of the tournament.

An important point for every bowler in the state to remember is that every league which is a member of the I. B. A. is entitled to one team entry free. Bowlers should make certain that their leagues take advantage of this. In some cases the free entry is awarded to the leading team in the league, but if the leaders do not wish to participate, it is passed down the line to a team wishing to enter.

Entries will not be accepted from any team or individual bowler who participates in any game in a league or tournament which does not hold a sanction issued by the American Bowling Congress.

GALLANT SIR IS FACING TEST IN AGUA CALIENTE

Is One-to-Five Favorite For Rich Race Tomorrow P. M.

Agua Caliente, Mexico, April 1.—(AP)—In a racing drama here tomorrow, known as the Agua Caliente Handicap, anyone of nine thoroughbreds may emerge a hero and one, Gallant Sir, may be the savior.

Gallant Sir is the shortest priced favorite in the history of racing in Lower California and if he wins for Norman W. Church it will be just what the crowd expects. But if anyone of the other entrants beats Gallant Sir by a whisker in the mile and a quarter gallop he will be just "another goat" to thousands of the fans.

Which puts the one-to-five favorite in a very tough spot—racing for more than a $25,000 added purse and for his very reputation. Nine times in 13 renewals of the offshoot or its successor, the Agua Caliente Handicap, favorites were beaten. Sun Beau, almost as heavy a favorite in 1921, was beaten by Mike Hall, the Chocoma and Plucky Play when the purse was $100,000.

While the list will not be completed officially until late this afternoon, the probable starters are Bahamas, owned by Bill Hartman; Waylayer and Wirt G. Bowman, belonging to A. A. Barolini; Lovell, owned by the Meadowbrook Stable; M'd Pursuit, owned by T. C. Worden; The Nut, of the Warm Stable; Lemon Hills, belonging to Abe; Bailestein and Harry Unna; Satin Spar of the Bill Bee string, and Whizz James, which will run as an entry with Gallant Sir. Waylayer is second favorite at 8 to 1.

Los Angeles, April 1.—(AP)—It isn't one thing harassing Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs this season, it's another.

Grimm, a sufferer with lumbago early in the training session, recovered enough to get into action. He figured after Kiki Cuyler was injured, that Gink Hendrick, reserve first baseman, take care of center field until the injured star returned. Yesterday, however, the Cub pilot tried to steal second and threw something out of joint in his back. Hendrick went right back to first base.

San Bernardino, Calif., April 1.—(AP)—After being shifted around from one position to another it looks as if Red Kress will return to his first love, shortstop, in the Chicago White Sox line-up.

Kress had a poor season in 1932 and Manager Lew Fonseca tried him everywhere except behind the bat and as a pitcher. He started as a candidate for an outfield job this season, but Luke Appling had a spell of poor fielding and the red-head was moved back to short. He looks more at home there than anywhere else.

Dates For School Contests Are Set

Chicago, April 1.—(AP)—The Illinois State High School Athletic Association Friday denied reports of abandonment of its annual track, golf and tennis meets and sets the dates for the athletic events in May.

The dates for the various district meets with centers: Track, May 13 at Robinson, Mattoon, Elgin, Preppert, Jacksonville, Evanston, Granite City, Lincoln, LaSalle, Rock Island, Monmouth, Urbana, and West Frankfort.

Golf, May 6, at Arlington Heights, Belleville, Benton, Bloomington, Bridgeport, Canton, Eureka, Jacksonville, Hoopston, Joliet, Keokuk, LaSalle, Rockford, and Vandalia.

Tennis, May 6, at Bridgeport, Canton, Collinsville, Greenville, Hoopston, Joliet, LaSalle, Normal (University High), Oak Park, Rock Island, Rockford, and Springfield. The state finals in all three events will be decided at the University of Illinois, May 20.

A BOOK A DAY

There were giants on the earth in the old days, and one of them was a long, fiery-tempered, indomitable frontiersman named Andrew Jackson, who swore great oaths, fought valiantly and became one of the sturdiest Americans in all history. You can read about him in "Andrew Jackson, the Border Captain" by Marguis James, and you'll find it as fascinating a biography as you've read in a long, long time.

Mr. James does not conduct his hero to the White House. His book carries its account of Jackson's life up to 1822 and then stops. It is, as the title suggests, the story of his activity as a border captain; to learn of his presidential career you must go elsewhere.

But what a story the pre-presidential career makes! Orphaned in early youth, serving in the Revolutionary war as a lad of 13 or 14, seeking his fortune in the Tennessee Valley with the earliest of pioneers, smiting the Indians mightily, fighting duels, running a racing stable, building up the government and becoming the mouthpiece for the turbulent and self-assertive new West—Jackson was a unique figure, and a mighty one.

He seems, among other things to have been a first-rate military leader. Mr. James describes his campaigns in detail—his blows against the Creek confederacy, his glamorous New Orleans campaign against the British, his slightly premature seizure of Florida—and leaves one wondering what history would be like if Jackson had led an expedition against Quebec in 1812, as he wished to do.

"Andrew Jackson" is a first-rate book. It is the Literary Guild's choice for April.

DEVIL GREATLY LIED ABOUT REV. CANTRELL SAID

Evangelist Paid His Respects To Satan Friday Evening

Another great crowd that nearly filled the big tabernacle on West Boyd street turned out in the rain last night to hear Evangelist Grady Cantrell pay his respects to "His Satanic Majesty." His sermon, like all he preaches, was out of the ordinary and presented quite a new view of the devil and his methods. It is no exaggeration to say his discourse was full of fire.

Mrs. Teresa Cantrell, wife of the evangelist arrived yesterday morning from Norfolk, Neb., where she had been visiting her sister. She was given an ovation by the audience when she stepped into the tabernacle at last evening's service. Following the service her many friends flocked to the platform, giving her a hearty welcome back to Dixon.

Arthur McKee gripped the hearts of the great audience with his solo, "Hiding Neth the Shadow of His Love." He has wonderful skill and there is an appeal and heart pull in every solo he sings. As one lady expressed it to the reporter, "He just thrills you through and through." Rarely is such a fine tenor voice as Mr. McKee possesses ever heard in this vicinity. Music lovers of the city will find in him a great satisfaction and pleasure.

Two Services Sunday

Two services are announced for Sunday. In the afternoon at 2:30 Rev. Cantrell will preach upon "Divine Healing." This will be a mass meeting for everybody. It is expected that there will be standing room only by 7:30 Sunday evening. The choir will be on hand by 7:15 to open the song service. Arthur McKee will sing a solo at each service. Mrs. McKee will lead the union young peoples meeting at the Christian church at 6:00 o'clock. The young people are taking a deep interest in these meetings and they will prove of much value to the revival effort, no doubt. Some special musical attractions are announced for the meeting Sunday evening.

A new angle on what the Bible teaches about Satan was taken by the evangelist last evening. He said in part:

"I am going to talk about the devil tonight. And I am taking rather a queer text for such a subject. It is Matt. 8:25, Jesus said, 'Why are ye fearful of ye of little faith?' You may not see the connection, but will later on."

"Nobody has ever been lied about more than the devil. He has been a bad reputation through the ages, so that many false ideas concerning him still linger."

Satan Not Omnipotent

"One of the false notions concerning him is that he is almost invincible. Some folks seem to think he is stronger than God. But he is the easiest guy to lick you ever saw if you know how."

"Another false conception that lingers is, that he is of awful appearance, with horns and hoofs, and spear-like tail, wields a pitchfork of awful proportions and spits out fire and smoke from his nose. Nothing like that! Do you think the devil would get many of you if he looked like that? He knows enough to hide his real character. Here is what the Holy Spirit records about him (2 Cor. 11:14). 'He appears as an angel of light.' I am an angel of light. These ministers are angels of light preaching the Divine Truth. Then Satan appears often as a preacher, deceiving even the elect."

Peter Sunk by Satan

"One of the imps the devil uses most is fear. 'Why are ye fearful, ye of little faith?' Look at Peter. He looked out over the water and saw Jesus walking on the waves. He instantly had a desire to walk over to Jesus. He called out 'Oh, Jesus, can't come to you over the waves?' Jesus said, 'Come.' Peter jumped out of the boat and stubbed his toe on the first wave but he kept on going with his 'ace toward Jesus. Pretty soon

Grolier Club

Houses Greatest Number Of Rouges

New York, April 1—(AP)—The Sedate Grolier Club is housing today the greatest collection of rouges and scoundrels ever brought together under one roof in this country.

"Hell Fire Jack, the noted horse stealer" is there; and "Lizzie Nutt" ready to recount her "sad experience—the killing of her noble-hearted father." Not to mention "Red Nose Mike," who was run to earth by the Pinkertons after a "foul murder on the Wilkes-Barre mountain."

But they, as well as Landru, the French bluebird; "Jack the Ripper," the whitechapel terror, and others of a feather, are all harmlessly embalmed between the covers of books, on current display at the club, an organization of book lovers interested in fine typography. The works are from the extensive criminal libraries of Edmund Pearson and Edward Hale Bierstadt, two of America's foremost writers on crime.

Hundreds of volumes are being shown, as well as pamphlets, broadsides and dodgers recounting the iniquitous use of poisons, daggers, guns and other lethal agents through the ages, many of the works written by (or ghost written for) the murderers themselves. Which recalls that in the not too distant past no execution of a criminal was complete without a broadside containing his "last speech," "true story," "dying words," or "only confession," usually hawked to crowds assembled for the very dropping of the trap. The one are the "Recollections of John Thurtell, executed at Hartford in 1824 for the murder of Mr. W. Wear," which called forth the celebrated rhyme:

"They cut his throat from ear to ear
"His head they battered in
"His name was Mr. William Wear
"He dwelt in Lyon's Inn" or the equally famous rhyme from the Borden case, the most celebrated of American crimes, of which Mr. Pearson is the leading historian:

"Lizzie Borden took an axe
"And gave her mother forty
"Whacks;
"When she saw what she had
"done—
"She gave her father forty-one!"

ASHTON NEWS

Town Clerk—Cole Tilton
Assessor—E. G. Dunne
Justice of the Peace—W. Frank Beaman and Emerson Chapman, Constable—Willis Phillips
In Pine Rock township, Percy Cross will compete with Henry Lundgren for supervisor and Henry Kasper is unopposed for town clerk. Mrs. Kathryn Hart celebrated her eighty-sixth birthday anniversary this week, and was charming hostess to a group of relatives and friends on that date.

It is an ill wind that blows nobody good proved very true the past week when the meeting called to discuss the purchase of the hotel building as a hospital site. The project met with little enthusiasm and the meeting was shortly adjourned. However a stranded family, enroute to the west coast, afloft, touched the hearts of those met at the meeting and a contribution of funds and clothing was given the distressed family. The party consisted of a man with his wife who was partially paralyzed, two small daughters and a son of less than six.

Mrs. Della Tilton of Rochelle is a guest of her son, Cole and family. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Tilton were guests of Mrs. Tilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lott Jenkins, of Chicago over the week end.

Rev. Parke O. Bailey and Rev. P. W. Henke were appointed at the Lake County Ministerial Association which met at Dixon early in the week to organize the local churches in their fight against the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Thomas left early in the week for their new home at Wilmington, Delaware where the Rev. Thomas has accepted a pastorate in Olivet Presbyterian church. The good wishes of the community go with them in their new work.

Mrs. Joy Parker was a surprised hostess to a group of friends who came to celebrate her birthday anniversary this week.

Three birthday anniversaries were celebrated with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weiner. Those honored were Mrs. Susan Butler of Dixon, who celebrated her 70th birthday, Mrs. Ernest Weiner who celebrated her 65th anniversary of her birth and Mrs. Boyd Butler. Guests to the number of fifty enjoyed the event with each guest of honor the recipient of a reminder of the good wishes of her friends.

week for sure she would go.

BUT Janet did not. The heat waves continued and nights as well as days were breathless and stifling. Mrs. Curtis complained of sleeplessness, canceled two dinner engagements and spent the evenings quietly at home. Sometimes she asked Janet to read to her and sometimes they played cards. There were other times when they merely sat and talked.

Janet suspected it was more than the heat that was troubling Mrs. Curtis. She did not look well and she seemed restless. When Janet suggested calling Doctor Roberts, however, Mrs. Curtis objected. She talked of a trip to the lake where she usually spent the summers but postponed it. The weather might change. Betty and Rolf were to remain in town and she did not like to leave them.

Janet came into the house one afternoon and hurried into the little room off the library. She had been down town and, returning on the bus, had suddenly remembered that there were several checks in her desk. Careless to leave them there. The checks should have been mailed off at once.

She sat down and with pen and ink began addressing the envelopes. Four of them. The first two were finished when Janet's pen suddenly paused in mid-air. There were voices in the next room. Betty's voice and her mother's.

They must have come in from the lawn back of the house where there were deck chairs and a huge sun umbrella. Mrs. Curtis was speaking.

"—and Rachel Thornton's going next week," she said. "Oh, that reminds me! Would you and Rolf like to use my tickets for the concert Tuesday night?"

"A concert in this weather? Good heavens!"

"It's for the milk fund," Mrs. Curtis explained. "And Rachel's on the committee. It's really going to be rather nice, I think. That Russian singer—I never can remember her name—is going to sing. And Obernier is conducting."

"Well, there's no use in my taking the tickets. I couldn't get Rolf to a concert unless he was dragged first!"

JANET moved uncomfortably. Mrs. Curtis and Betty didn't know she was there and she didn't like to overhear their conversation. There was no escape, however, except the door leading directly into the library where they were. Perhaps they would leave in a moment.

But Mrs. Curtis and Betty did not leave and their next words held Janet speechless.

"Then if you don't want the tickets," Mrs. Curtis said, "I'll give them to Janet. She can invite some one—"

Betty's voice interrupted, angry and cracking. "Give them to Janet! Well, you certainly won't. I can find better use for them than that! Mother, isn't it about time that girl learned her place? Why, you'd think she was a guest here the way you treat her!"

"But, Betty—"

"I tell you I think it's the limit. Why does she have to have meals sent to her room? Why can't she eat with the other servants? Going to a concert! And sitting down in the front row, I suppose. What would our friends think?"

"But it's a charity performance, Betty. I'm sure I don't see any reason why Janet shouldn't go."

"Well, I do and I tell you she's not going. I'll take the tickets—"

1500 Fish Placed in Creek

One of the state fish trucks placed fish in the Franklin creek Monday noon, at the Crawford bridge, about one mile south of town. The fish were placed in the stream under the direction of Ralph Bradford, director of conservation, and were brought here from the state fish hatchery at Wyandot. The fish were taken to the creek in large containers and were of three varieties, black bass, blue gills and a few croppies. One hundred of the number were adult fish, the balance being fingerlings and yearlings. This consignment was requested several months ago by the local precinct committee-men, Charles Kelley and Charles Howard, Democrats, F. H. Senger and Editor Halderman, Republicans. Sportsmen should be considerate and conservative in their fishing, so that these fish may be preserved for future propagation and more sport in coming years. Mr. Kelley is trying to secure another assignment, and all should help to preserve them until they attain a full growth.

Buried Here

Elmer Cline received the sad news Monday morning of the death of Mrs. Ben Fox who passed away at her home in Denver, Colorado, where she had been living on account of poor health. The remains were brought here Wednesday afternoon and taken to the Hicks funeral chapel. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon in the Church of the Brethren. The deceased, who will be remembered as Margaret Madison, grew to womanhood at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cline, leaving there about fourteen years ago at which time she married Benjamin Fox. They lived a while in Phoenix, Arizona then moved to Denver, where they spent the remaining years of her life. A son, together with her husband and father survive her departure. An obituary will appear in these columns next week.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday April 7th, at the home of Mrs. Ella Miller. The study topic for April being "Temperance and Missions." The roll call will be "Name a Missionary and tell where located." At this meeting, also, a postponed program on Child Welfare will be presented by Mrs. O. D. Buck. Special musical numbers are being prepared with the Easter Season in mind.

Many people are saying these days, "better have beer than the poison stuff the young people are now drinking." The argument is plausible. The W. C. T. U. has always upheld the fact, proven by science, that alcohol is a narcotic when used as a beverage. It "befuddles the brain, retards mental processes and definitely lessens muscular control." Besides its continued use weakens the physical system and makes the individual more susceptible to disease, and when any organic sickness attacks him his chances of recovery are lessened.

So we cannot believe that the way out of present conditions is to sanction and protect by law the manufacture and sale of alcohol in any form for beverage use. Everyone knows that the law forbidding the "manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors" has not been and is not being enforced, and anyone knows, also, that under the law, intoxicating liquor found anywhere within the control of the U. S., is an outlaw and the product of non-observance and non-enforcement.

But when nullification of that law goes into effect through the legalizing of beer and light wines in states, counties and towns, where desired by those in control, we shall have an enforcement program on our hands far beyond that of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead law. And yet they tell us that enforcement is impossible.

Daily Health Talk

THE MYSTERY OF SLEEP

It is proverbial in medicine that the more numerous the hypotheses advanced in explanation of a problem the less positive is the knowledge concerning it. Certainly this holds in the case of sleep.

To this intricate problem Pavlov, the Russian physiologist, recently contributed an interesting observation. In conducting experiments with dogs in the development of his studies on conditioned reflexes he observed the following:

A dog trained to expect a meal following a stimulus tends to fall asleep when food does not follow the stimulation. In other words, the dog having expected a meal to follow the accustomed signal and failing to receive this meal develops a strong inclination to fall asleep.

Pavlov explains this process along the following lines:

The first effect of the omission of the meal following the receipt of the stimulus is a stoppage of the secretions from the glands in the digestive tract, which glands had been stimulated into activity by the reception of the signal or stimulus. This stoppage or, as it is technically designated, inhibition, originally applies to the secretory glands of the digestive tract, but

"Big Three" of Senate Foreign Relations Committee

They're a world of problems. Leaders of the internationally potent Senate Foreign Relations Committee are Senators William E. Borah, left, of Idaho; Key Pittman (committee chairman), center, of Nevada; and Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, informally pictured as they met at the Capitol to report favorably the $540,000,000 American-Canadian St. Lawrence waterways pact.

tends to spread out to affect other parts of the nervous mechanism. In this fashion sleep is induced under the given condition of the experiment.

According to Pavlov, therefore, sleep may be the effect of an inhibitory activity in the nervous system; also sleep may be affected by conditional reflexes.

A certain amount of common experience seems to substantiate Pavlov's hypothesis. Sleep does appear at times to be a sort of reflex activity, for which the original stimulus may arise either in the constitution of the individual or in his environment.

Certainly the atmosphere in the sleeping quarters, the bed and the hour are factors intimately affecting and determining the onset of sleep.
